Course Description: The purpose of this course is to familiarize college students with available nonprescription drug products through: interactive discussions, writing assignments, and group presentations. At the conclusion of the semester, the student will be able to describe how a product becomes available over-the-counter, identify common active ingredients and products used in popular over-the-counter products, identify over-the-counter ingredients that are commonly abused, and analyze advertising used to promote over-the-counter products to the general consumer. Article readings may be assigned and should be read prior to the designated class period. The class session format will be a brief review of the topic with interactive discussion on the topic.

Attendance and Professionalism: It is your responsibility to attend class and conduct yourself in a manner respectful to both faculty and fellow students in the classroom. If you miss a class for any reason, you will be held responsible for all material covered and announcements made in your absence.

Attendance is required and will constitute 15% of your final grade. It is your responsibility to be on time and remain for the entire class period so as not to be inconsiderate of your colleagues in learning, and to fully participate in class discussions. Attendance will be taken at the beginning of each class. Points will be deducted for students who are tardy or leave class early without a documented reason.
By UT Austin policy, you must notify the instructor of your pending absence at least fourteen days prior to the date of observance of a religious holy day. If you must miss a class, an examination, a work assignment, or a project in order to observe a religious holy day, you will be given an opportunity to complete the missed work within a reasonable time after the absence.

Participation and professionalism will constitute 15% of your final grade and will be distributed at the end of the course. Professionalism comprises several important traits, particularly collegiality and participation.

1. Collegiality refers to:
   a. Collaborative interaction with you instructor and peers,
   b. Constructive conversation with your peers, and
   c. Mature, respectful attitude and behavior overall.

2. Participation refers to:
   a. consistent involvement in all aspects of class,
   b. meaningful oral and written contributions to examination of course concepts, and
   c. insightful investigation, asking questions as necessary for clarification and edification.

3. Both of the above aspects require regular discussion and attendance. (See attendance policy above.)

Participation grades will be dependent on active participation in classroom discussions and activities. It is the expectation that each student will actively contribute to each class.

Class Policies: Every student has the right to learn as well as the responsibility not to deprive others of their right to learn.

- You are expected to attend all scheduled class meetings and arrive on time. Late arrivals and early departures are very disruptive. If you are not able to attend class due to illness, please let me know 30 minutes BEFORE class starts either via email or voicemail.
- If you have trouble hearing because of distractions around you, quietly ask those responsible for the distractions to stop. If the distractions continue, please let me know.
- No assignment grades will be dropped. For every calendar day an assignment is late, 10% will be deducted from the grade on that assignment.
- Cell phones must be turned off or set on silent or vibrate mode.
- iPods, and other electronics, must be turned off and stored.
- Laptops may used in class only when instructed to do so, and may be used only for class-related activities.
• Failure to follow class policies will result in a reduction in professionalism and participation points.

Oral Presentations:

Rubric for grading each presentation will be posted in Canvas.
All presentations will be timed. Your audience will consist of your fellow students.
Some things to consider as you prepare and practice:

- Before your presentation:
  - Think through your ideas.
  - Select the most important ideas to bring out.
  - Decide how to start the presentation. (Hook your audience in.)
  - Decide how to end the presentation. (What will they remember?)
  - Make notes. (Outline best – not word for word what you plan to say.)
  - Practice with a friend and/or in front of a mirror.

- During your presentation:
  - Be audible.
  - Speak slowly.
  - If you use visual aids, make them visible to all.
  - Maintain eye contact with your audience.
    - Do not read your talk.
    - Do not look at your visual aids.
  - Avoid mannerisms that will distract your audience.
  - Stand comfortably.
  - Don’t forget to breathe.

Power Point Presentation: Bring your slides electronically and try to arrive early to download/open them on the computer. You can use webspace or a USB drive to bring your presentation to class. After opening the presentation, make sure the projector is on. Make sure the presentation works prior to beginning.

Email a copy of your presentation to the instructor no less than 24 hours before your scheduled presentation so that handouts can be made for the class. If you are using a presentation format that does not allow handouts to be generated, then make note pages for the audience and email them to the instructor no less than 24 hours before your scheduled presentation.

Group Presentation: OTC Product Comparison

Students will be separated into groups of 2, 3 or 4. Each group will select two, three or four commonly used over-the-counter products from a single category to compare and contrast. Students should compare: dosage form availability, dosing frequency, side effects, cost, marketing/advertising, and other relevant information.

The presentation should be formatted such that one product is discussed in its’ entirety, followed by the next product until all products have been individually presented. Then, the group should provide a comparison between the products to point out the advantages and disadvantages of using each of the products.

The presentation should be a minimum of 15 minutes in length, and a maximum of 25 minutes in length. Each member of the group should present an equal amount of time. Students should prepare a presentation, which must be submitted to the instructor no less than 24 hours prior to the presentation. Note copies of the presentation will be presented to the class by the instructor. Groups can use other props, skits, videos, etc., as they choose. Each group should be prepared to answer questions from the class regarding the products.

Each member of the class (audience) will be asked to fill out a Presentation Evaluation that will be shared with the presenters. The Presentation Evaluation will be posted in Canvas for review prior to the presentation.

Oral Presentation: Complementary and Alternative Medicine
Students will present an oral presentation over their CAM paper. All of the key points expected in the paper should be discussed. See the writing assignment description for further detail.

Presentation MUST be between 8 and 12 minutes in length. The Presentation Evaluation will be posted in Canvas for review prior to the presentation.

Writing Assignments:

Rubric for grading will be posted in Canvas.

This course carries the Writing Flag. Writing Flag courses are designed to give students experience with writing in an academic discipline. In this class, you can expect to write regularly during the semester, complete substantial writing projects, and receive feedback from your instructor to help you improve your writing. You will also have the opportunity to revise one or more assignments, and to read and discuss your peers’ work. You should therefore expect a substantial portion of your grade to come from your written work.

All written papers should be:
- Double-spaced.
- 12 point font.
- Calibri font.
- 1 inch margins.
- Use spell check BEFORE submitting.
- Re-read your assignment BEFORE submitting.
- Include a page number at the bottom center of each page for assignments longer than one page in length.
- Grammar and spelling will BOTH be evaluated and points deducted as necessary. This applies to ALL writing assignments.
- Research papers MUST have a bibliography of AT LEAST 3 references using MLA style.

Writing Assignment: Self-Care Reflection (1/2 – 1 page)
Students will write a one-half to one-page reflection on self-care.
The first paragraph should discuss the student’s opinion of self-care. What is self-care? What does it involve? What does it mean to me?

The second paragraph should discuss at least one thing the student did in the previous semester that involved self-care. The student may discuss more than one thing, if they choose.

The third paragraph should discuss at least one change the student plans to make during the next semester that involves self-care. They student may choose more than one thing, but it needs to be a realistic goal.

At the end of the semester, we will reflect back on what we learned in the course and what changes we have made this semester as well as what changes we plan to make in the future.

Writing Assignment: OTC Advertising Journal (1/2 – 1 page each; 4 per semester)
Student will keep a “journal” of OTC advertising and write a paper to be turned in four times over the course of the semester. Papers are due at the start of class on each of the assigned days.

The paper should include a brief description and discussion of advertisements that the student has come into contact with over the past two weeks. Documentation must include a minimum of three entries, extra credit may be given for one or two additional postings. The ads can include television commercials, ads in magazines, billboards, ads viewed on the internet. Ads can include anything that is related to self-care. Ads for prescription medications are not appropriate and no credit will be given.

The student must be specific as to when and where the ad was viewed. If ads were seen while watching television, include the channel, day and time. If ads were in a magazine, include the name of the magazine, month, volume (if applicable) and issue. If ads were seen on the internet, include where they were encountered and a link if applicable.

The papers can vary in format. The student can write it as though it were a journal or diary posting. The student can be more formal in the writing. The content will be graded for content, spelling, grammar and punctuation. The instructor will provide written feedback and a grade for each paper. In addition, two journal submissions will be reviewed by your peers during the semester.

Must include: description of ad, where and when viewed, target audience, message, validity of message, and discussion of whether it changed your opinion of purchasing the product or not and why.

OTC Advertising Journal will be graded for:

- Content – must post three different observations each submission
Peer evaluations will be completed twice during the semester. Please note the peer evaluations will be done in Canvas and it is each student’s responsibility to complete their peer evaluation on time.

The purpose of the assignment is to raise the student’s awareness of the volume of advertisements available in the mainstream media and the messages being conveyed.

Timed-Writing Assignment: OTC Product Comparison (1 page each; 2 per semester)
On the assigned days, two groups will present their OTC Product Comparison presentation. At the conclusion of the two presentations, students will be asked to choose one of the presentations to write about. Students will have the remainder of the class period to write a one page paper about why they will or will not purchase the products presented in the selected presentation. For students presenting that day, the presentation of the other group must be selected.

This is NOT an evaluation of the presentation. This paper should reflect the writer’s opinion of the products presented based on the presentation. For example, the writer can discuss how they will purchase Product X because they only have to take it once a day, there are no side effects, it is cheaper, etc.

The paper can be submitted handwritten or typed on a laptop and posted in Canvas. The paper must be turned in prior to the end of class on the day of the presentation.

Writing Assignment: Health Conditions and Over-the-Counter Products (3 – 4 pages)
Students will select a health condition that can be treated with over-the-counter products. The student should research the health condition and provide a summary of the condition. The student should then research the over-the-counter products available for treating the health condition.

Health condition: what is it? Who typically suffers from this health condition? What are the common symptoms?

OTC products: What type of products are used to treat the health condition? How do they work to treat the health condition? What are the common adverse reactions? How is it taken or used (dose)? How much does it cost per dose or therapy?

References: A minimum of 3. Must be cited within text as well as in bibliography using MLA style.
The purpose of the assignment is to increase the student’s awareness of health conditions that can be treated using OTC products, and basic information about the OTC products themselves.

Writing Assignment: Complementary and Alternative Medicine (3 – 4 pages)
Students will select one therapy that is considered part of complementary and alternative medicine used in current society. The student should research the product or therapy to determine the history or background, uses, benefits and risks, adverse effects, costs, and other relevant information.

References: A minimum of 3. Must be cited within text as well as in bibliography using MLA style.

The purpose of this assignment is to increase the student’s understanding of CAM and allow them to assess how it is currently being used.

Writing Assignment: Museum Tour Reflections (1/2 - 1 page each; Blanton, Harry Ransom Center, Landmarks, Texas Memorial Museum)
During the second half of the semester, we will complete three museum tours and one campus tour. Upon completion of the tours, students will write a one-half to one page reflection of the tour.

Things to consider when writing the reflection: Was this your first visit to the museum? What part of the museum did you particularly enjoy? Was there something that stood out? Will you be going back to the museum? Is there a part of the museum that we did not see that you would like to have seen?

Writing Assignment: University Lecture Series Reflection (1 page)
Students will attend one of the approved ULS events during the spring semester. Students will submit a one-page reflection of the event and what they learned. The purpose of this assignment is for the student to reflect on the event and express in writing what they took home from the event.

Events to choose from include:

Writing Center: I strongly encourage you to use the Undergraduate Writing Center, FAC 211, 471-6222: http://www.uwc.utexas.edu/. The Undergraduate Writing Center offers free, individualized, expert help with writing for any UT undergraduate, by appointment or on a drop-in basis. Any undergraduate enrolled in a course at UT can visit the UWC for assistance with any writing project. The consultants work with students from every department on campus, for both academic and non-academic writing. Whether you are writing a lab report, a resume, a term paper, a statement for an application, or your own poetry, UWC consultants will be happy to work with you. Their services are not just for writing that has "problems." Getting feedback from an informed audience is a normal part of a successful writing project. Consultants help students develop strategies to improve their writing. The assistance they provide is intended to foster independence. Each student determines how to use the consultant's advice. The consultants are trained to help you work on your writing in ways that preserve the integrity of your work.

Plagiarism: Plagiarism is scholastic dishonesty. Changing a few words here and there does not prevent plagiarism. As a rule of thumb, consider five or more consecutive words from any printed or recorded work that is not included in quotation marks as plagiarism. If plagiarism occurs, you will receive a zero for the assignment. Refer to http://deanofstudents.utexas.edu/sjs/scholdis_whatis.php for information regarding proper referencing, citations, style manuals and avoidance of plagiarism.

Scholastic Dishonesty: Students are expected to uphold the University Policy of Scholastic Dishonesty (located in UT General Information Bulletin or at http://www.utexas.edu/depts/dos/sjs/) and the University’s Honor Code (which may be located for your review at http://www.utexas.edu/about-ut/mission-core-purpose-honor-code) and to work independently on examinations. Any student engaging in academic dishonesty will be given an appropriate penalty, including possible failure of the course. Any case of academic dishonesty will be reported per University regulations.

Students who violate University rules on scholastic dishonesty are subject to disciplinary penalties, including the possibility of failure in the course and/or dismissal from the University. Since such dishonesty harms the individual, all students, and the integrity of the University, policies on scholastic dishonesty will be strictly enforced. Also, you should refer to the Student Judicial Services website at deanofstudents.utexas.edu/sjs/ to assess the official University policies and procedures on scholastic dishonesty as well as further elaboration on what constitutes scholastic dishonesty.
Common examples of scholastic dishonesty include, but are not necessarily limited to the following:

- Copying answers from another student’s exam or homework
- The use of crib notes or crib sheets
- Writing notes or information for testing purposes on concealed pieces of paper, desktops, your skin, your clothing, or any other material
- Stealing copies of the exam
- Changing answers after the quiz period is completed
- Use of a programmable or alphanumeric calculator
- Talking to another student during an exam
- Any other act which gives a student an unfair advantage on an exam compared with his/her classmates

Emergency Evacuation Policy: Occupants of buildings on the UT Austin campus are required to evacuate and assemble outside when a fire alarm is activated or an announcement is made. Please be aware of the following policies regarding evacuation: Familiarize yourself with all exit doors of the classroom and the building. Remember that the nearest exit door may not be the one you used when you entered the building.

Behavior Concerns Advice Line (BCAL): If you are worried about someone who is acting differently, you may use the Behavior Concerns Advice Line to discuss by phone your concerns about another individual’s behavior. This service is provided through a partnership among the Office of the Dean of Students, the Counseling and Mental Health Center (CMHC), the Employee Assistance Program (EAP), and The University of Texas Police Department (UTPD). Canvas will contain copies of PowerPoint slide presentations, course syllabus, Discussion Board postings, learning objectives, and other relevant course materials. Email via Canvas is the official method for the faculty to communicate with students in this course; please keep your email address on the UT computer mainframe current at all times.

Cell Phones and Laptops: Students are asked to turn off or mute cell phones during class. Any student found to be using their cell phone during class will be marked absent and asked to leave for the remainder of the class. Laptops may be used for taking note-taking and writing assignments during class. Any student found to be tweeting, posting to Facebook, emailing, surfing the web, or doing any other non-course related activity using their laptop will be marked absent and asked to leave for the remainder of the class, and they will not be allowed to bring their laptop back to class.

You will also have the opportunity to revise one or more assignments, and you may be asked to read and discuss your peers’ work. You should therefore expect a substantial portion of your grade to come from your written work. Writing Flag classes meet the Core Communications objectives of Critical Thinking, Communication, Teamwork, and Personal Responsibility, established by the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board.
