

MMUF

Mellon Mays Undergraduate Fellowship Program

INFO SESSIONS

The University of Texas at Austin

Do you want to conduct independent research?
Are you considering doctoral study?
Are you an underrepresented or first generation college student?
Do you want to contribute to diversity at institutions of higher learning?

The Mellon Mays Undergraduate Fellowship Program is for you!

Join us for one of our Information Sessions as past and present MMUF Fellows share their experiences and how the program has helped them prepare for graduate school.

Session I JAN 19 | 12 PM | GWB 2.206

ANNELEISE AZÚA, Ph.D. candidate, American Studies

ANDREA CLARK, M.A. student, Latin American Studies

PEACE AND LOVE EL HENSON, Ph.D. candidate, African & African Diaspora Studies

Session II JAN 19 | 4 PM | SAC 2.120

DEBBIE CIFUENTES RAMÍREZ, Ph.D. candidate, Spanish & Portuguese

SANA SABOOWALA, current MMUF Fellow and Liberal Arts Honors and Natural Science Honors student

MELANIE WHITE, Ph.D. student, African & African Diaspora Studies

We're looking forward to meeting you!

Refreshments provided.

To learn more, visit:
MMUF at UT Austin
or contact:

Professor Almeida Jacqueline Toribio