

Seeking Arab American Undergraduate Students For Research Study

Consider participating in a study exploring the Arab American college student experience. The primary focus of this study will be about how Arab American college students navigate their identity and how they experience belonging.

Participants should meet the following criteria:

- Self-identify as Arab American
- Be born in the United States
- Have a least one parent who immigrated to the United States from the Southwest Asia and North Africa (SWANA) region and they identify as Arab
- Be enrolled as a second-year or later as an undergraduate student at The University of Texas at Austin

To participate please email Jinane at jinane@utexas.edu

This study has been approved through The University of Texas at Austin Institutional Review Board (IRB) (STUDY00003303).