

UT STUDENT FOOD INSECURITY

Food insecurity is an economic and social condition that a person may face of limited or uncertain access (transportation) to adequate food.

Students of color, LGBTQIA+ students, and first-generation students are more likely to experience food insecurity.

of UT students are food insecure

KNOW YOUR RESOURCES

UT Farmstand

Provides seasonal fresh fruits and vegetables and other goods; include a range of produce grown on UT campus

Longhorn Baptist Student Ministry

Offers free meals for all; both vegetarian and meat options under their FLOW initiative

UT Student Government

Student government programs which provides snacks and drinks to students on campus every month

Student Emergency Fund

Provides financial support when a verified emergency has impacted a student's health, safety, or well-being

Texas FIAT

Student government group working to combat food insecurity in our community through research, advocacy and collaboration

LuMin

Students can show their UT ID to receive a free bag of groceries and a weekly Tailgate that offers free burgers with beef and vegan options

UT School of Social Work Pantry

Free food pantry directed towards social work students located in the student lounge

UT OUTPOST

free food pantry for students that offers a variety of foods and personal care products

Students are able to perform better academically, socially, and physically if they do not have to worry about where their next meal is coming from.