

JOIN US FOR THE

Scholarly Communications Book Discussion Series

1.1 Basics and Definitions of ScholComm

Friday, October 4, 2024

9-10 am PT | 10-11 am MT | 11-12 pm CT | 12-1 pm ET

<https://northwestern.zoom.us/meeting/register/tJMqcO2uqz4iEtLriNzkFKJApis5GI1B9yV0>

Join authors Josh Bolick and Will Cross as they discuss Chapter 1.1: Basics and Definitions ScholComm exploring key concepts of scholarly communication, including the creation, evaluation, dissemination, and preservation of scholarly work through both formal and informal channels.

1.2 The Economic Context: ScholComm is Money

Friday, October 25, 2024

9-10 am PT | 10-11 am MT | 11-12 pm CT | 12-1 pm ET

https://northwestern.zoom.us/meeting/register/tJEvf-ihrpjopGdB3_wmx12ATKi2OIeN0-EMd

Join us for a panel discussion exploring the advantages and disadvantages of private sector, academic, and self-publishing in scholarly communication, and how economic challenges vary by discipline. We'll also examine questions of intellectual property ownership and ways to realize its value. Panelists to be announced..

1.3 The Technological Context: ScholComm is Format

Friday, November 8, 2024

9-10 am PT | 10-11 am MT | 11-12 pm CT | 12-1 pm ET

https://northwestern.zoom.us/meeting/register/tJAIdumrrTMrGtFMdP013pe5Ayt_Je13XXPH

Join us for small group discussion to explore how digital technologies and networked communication have transformed scholarly communication, creating both opportunities and challenges. We'll delve into the impact of technology on research, collaboration, and information sharing, and discuss the benefits and risks of using digital tools in scholarship.

1.4 The Social Context: ScholComm is People

Friday, November 22, 2024

9-10 am PT | 10-11 am MT | 11-12 pm CT | 12-1 pm ET

<https://northwestern.zoom.us/meeting/register/tJMlde2rpzspGdRVEGT2TFJ-jZXzqSOSOL4V>

Join us for small group discussion on how social forces shape scholarly communication, the role of librarians in this dynamic, and the impact of global, social, and technological interactions on the field.

1.5 The Legal and Policy : ScholComm is Sharing

Friday, December 6, 2024

9-10 am PT | 10-11 am MT | 11-12 pm CT | 12-1 pm ET

https://northwestern.zoom.us/meeting/register/tJ0udu-gpj8vHNfG8Evca52M02_eMFWAA1PZ

Join us for small group discussion where we'll explore the core legal issues in scholarly communication, including copyright, licensing, and the rights of academic authors, and how these legal frameworks influence the sharing and dissemination of scholarly work.

based on the recently published book
Scholarly Communication Librarianship and Open Knowledge
by Maria Bonn, Josh Bolick and William Cross
Available at: <https://bit.ly/SCLAOK>.

Hosted by the Medical Library Association's Scholarly Communications Caucus